SPY: The Secret World of Espionage, including never before seen objects and documents from the CIA, KGB, FBI, National Reconnaissance Office and the clandestine world of spies!

SPY: The Secret World of Espionage is an unprecedented exhibition. The nearly 300 documents and spy gadgets on display – many of which have never before been seen – or even known – reveal an unseen picture of the mysterious world of espionage. SPY parts the veil, inviting visitors into a secret world of patriots, spies, moles, traitors and spy catchers: a world with heroes and villains, whose actions helped shape the world we live in today.

And, during your visit, become a spy with the exhibit's numerous interactives that offer thrilling on-the-spot training to future spies of all ages, including interactives in secret writing, disguise, voice changing, and a laser maze!

"Play it Again Sam"

Allan Felix, a neurotic San Francisco movie critic has just broken up with his wife, Nancy. This devastating event has caused him to spiral into a deep depression and look for solace in the classic movies that he loves, particularly the romantic saga CASABLANCA. Allan begins to have conversations with the fantasy ghost of his film idol, Humphrey Bogart, who gives him advice on romance and masculinity. Worried about their insecure friend, Linda and Dick spark Allan into action, which leads to a series of disastrously funny blind dates in which Allan tries, but fails, to be as cool as Bogie. Allan's love life is clearly going nowhere, until his quest for romance unexpectedly leads him into the arms of Linda.

It's A Wonderful Life

This is a warm and wonderful adaptation of Frank Capra's beloved movie which tells the saga of George Bailey, the Everyman from the small town of Bedford Falls. His dreams of travel and adventure have been quashed by family obligations and civic duty, and his Guardian Angel has to descend on Christmas Eve to save him from despair and to remind him (by showing him what the world would have been like had he never been born) that his has been, after all, a wonderful life. All of your favorite characters from the movie are here: George Bailey and Mary Hatch, Clarence, the Angel who is trying to earn his wings, absent-minded Uncle Billy, Violet, and, of course, the Scrooge-like villain, Mr. Potter.

"A Time of Reflection" Holiday Group Show

In a medium often difficult to work with, Kit Boise-Cossart's oil pastel paintings capture his emotional interpretation of local coastal scenes with their spontaneity, raw energy, and pure colors. Done at dawn and dusk, his series of "Hammonds" provided a welcome respite during a family illness.

Prismatic and magical images are captured by "natural light artist" Carrie Dawn, using a simple point and shoot camera. Utilizing patterns and geometric shapes created by sunlight streaming through her bathroom window blinds into a tub with glass objects, she created unique reflections onto flowers.

Gerry Winant is adept at creating wonderfully inviting plein air oil paintings, often with tranquil bodies of water reflecting lovely evening skies that add to the warm atmospheric mood of his romantic landscapes.

Whether with literal reflections, or introspective ones, the works of these different artists embody their love of what they see.

5:00 Decalogue 8 "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

Elzbieta, researching the fate of Jewish war survivors, is visiting from New York and sits in on lectures in ethics at the University of Warsaw. She approaches Zofia, the professor, and tells her that she is the little Jewish girl whom Zofia refused to shelter from the Nazis during the Occupation. As Zofia explains the reason for this is apparent cowardice - someone had betrayed Zofia's husband who was active in the underground and any Jewish child would have fallen into the hands of the Gestapo - her long-standing sense of guilt is cleared while Elzbieta's faith in humanity is restored.

Director: Krzysztof Kieslowski

Screenplay: Krzysztof Kieslowski, Krzysztof Piesiewicz

Cast: Maria Koscalkowska (Zofia), Teresa Marczevska (Elzbieta), Artur Barcis (Young Man), Tadeusz Lomnicki (Tailor), Marian Opania, Bronislaw Pawlik, Wojciech Asinski, Marek Kepinski, Janusz Mond, Krzysztof Rojek, Wiktor Sanejko, Ewa Skibinska, Hanna Szczerkowska, Anna Zagorska

35mm color, 55 min

6:15 Decalogue 9 "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house."

Roman learns he's impotent. Recognizing his wife, Hankas's, sexual needs, he encourages her to take a lover. She is reluctant; she loves Roman, but does have an affair with Mariusz, a student. Roman, despite his own words, becomes excessively jealous and obsessed with the thought that Hanka might have followed his encouragement and taken a lover. He spies on her and learns of her relationship with Mariusz, unaware of the fact that Hanka has broken off the affair. Roman tries to commit suicide but survives. Hanka rushes to his side.

Director: Krzysztof Kieslowski

Screenplay: Krzysztof Kieslowski, Krzysztof Piesiewicz

Cast: Ewa Blaszczyk (Hanka), Piotr Machalica (Roman), Artur Barcis (Young Man), Jan Jankowski (Mariusz), Jolanta Pietek-Gorecka (Ola), Katarzyna Piwowarczyk (Ania), Jerzy Trela (Mikolaj), Malgorzata Boratynska, Renata Berger, Janusz Cywinski, Joanna Cichon, Slawomir Kwiatkowski, Dariusz Przychoda

8:30 Decalogue 10 "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maid, nor his goods, nor anything that is your neighbor's."

A man dies leaving an extremely valuable stamp collection to his two sons, Jerzy and Artur. Although they know very little about stamps, they are unwilling to sell. They learn that one very rare stamp is needed to complete the valuable set. To acquire the stamp Jerzy donates his kidney - the man in possession of the stamp is in need of a kidney for his daughter. Returning from hospital, Jerzy and Artur find that they have been burgled. The entire stamp collection is gone. Shamefully, they confess that they suspected each other and are reconciled.
